Fine Dinner And Address Are Enjoyed

As a community fellowship event the dinner given last night under auspices of the Congregational church was one of the outstanding affairs in local history. Nearly 250 people were served and all agreed that the menu was one of the most delightful they ever ate.

An inspiring address by Dr. Frank Dyer of Los Angeles and a number of entertainment numbers completed the program at an early hour. Gathered around the tables were members of almost every other denomination as well as non-church-goers.

Attorney E. E. Bacon presided and introduced Dr. Dyer as the speaker of the evening. He called attention to the fact that Dr. Dyer is now engaged in the building of a new church for the Wilshire Congregational parish to cost about half a million dollars, and to be probably the finest Congregational church building in America.

Binding People Together

Dr. Dyer wove his address around the quotation: "The nineteenth century made the world one neighborhood; the twentieth century must make it one brotherhood." With a rich fund of anecdote and word pictures and an intimate approach to his hearers, he held his audience in rapt attention. He pointed out the wonderful achievements of science and commerce in bringing the remote peoples of the earth close together and mutually interdependent for food and the necessities of life; in enabling us in California to actually hear Chief Justice Taft solemnly administer the oath of office to President Coolidge and to hear his response, "My Countrymen."

But merely bringing the people close together does not always promote friendship and brotherhood, said Dr. Dyer. Sometimes it means a riot. There must be a moving principle and so far no substitute has been found for the spirit of brotherhood as taught by Jesus Christ. In the community this spirit is best represented and fostered by the church which he founded. To best accomplish its mission the church must have adequate physical equipment in the way of suitable buildings. Hence the church buildings should be the finest and most beautiful in any community as representing the highest aspirations and finest things in the lives of the people. And the character of the churches will show quite accurately the place which religion holds in the lives of the people.

New Church Enterprise

Mr. Bacon then called attention to the fact that the Congregational church has under consideration a new building enterprise, the only secret thing about it being the time of beginning the campaign. Views of the proposed building and floor plans were then thrown on the screen and briefly explained by George B. Morgridge, representing the building committee.

During the dinner and at the opening of the program delightful music was furnished by Director John R. Bayley of the Monrovia Community orchestra and two of his musicians. A song by Jack Buchanan with accompaniment by his sister, Mrs. R. M. Finlayson, was heard with delight and heartily encored, as was a song by Mrs. Donald C. Ashmore with obligato by Mrs. Homer Glidden and accompaniment by Mrs. George B. Morgridge. Much enthusiasm was aroused when Mrs. E. E. Bacon sang a song written for the occasion by Frank E. Barbour.

The dinner arrangements were in the hands of Mrs. W. J. Lawless as chairman of the dinner committee and Mrs. Bacon as president of the Ladies' Aid, who had a loyal army of helpers in kitchen and dining room.

FOURTH CONCERT OF ORCHESTRA

The fourth concert of the season will be given by the Monrovia Community orchestra, Friday evening, March 13, at 8 o'clock, in the Presbyterian church. John R. Bayley, conductor, will be assisted by John Riedel, well known tenor. A number of Sierra Madre musicians are members of the orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Cox went to San Bernardino Sunday to attend the National Orange Show.

Mrs. Cora B. Cavines of Santa Ana is the guest of Miss Eleanor Bayne this week. They are attending the school of Spirella corsetry in Los Angeles.

TUCKER SELLS JEWELRY STORE TO FRAIBERG

Frank Fraiberg, his brother, Henry Fraiberg, and H. Gregor, have purchased the jewelry store of L. C. Tucker and have already taken possession. Mr. Gregor will be the active manager of the business but both the other members of the firm will devote some of their time to the business. Mr. Tucker was forced to leave the close confinement of the store on account of his health and will engage in selling diamonds. The store will operate under the name of Fraiberg Company.

Frank Fraiberg was the former owner of the store here and sold about three years ago to Mr. Tucker. Until recently he was engaged in the jewelry business in Santa Monica but sold his business there a few weeks ago. Before coming to California he was in the jewelry business in Cleveland, O., where Mr. Gregor was associated with him.

Dr. Bovard Is To Be Guest At Reception

Dr. William S. Bovard, general secretary of the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal church, has accepted an invitation to be the guest of the Congregational church of Sierra Madre next Friday evening, March 13, and give an address. It is planned to make the affair an informal reception to which the general public is invited, with light refreshments to be served without charge.

As general secretary, Dr. Bovard is also the executive head of the department which has in charge religious education and work among the young people of the largest protestant denomination in America. He is also an ardent advocate of comity and cooperation between denominations. On March 17 and 18 he will be one of the speakers at a great conference of Methodist laymen in Los Angeles. When it was learned he would be in this vicinity he was invited by telegram to speak in Sierra Madre and his acceptance was received with deep gratification.

Dr. Bovard is the youngest of several brothers, all of whom achieved prominence in the ministry of the Methodist church. Two of them have served as president of the University of Southern California. He is the father of Dr. Gilbert S. Bovard of Sierra Madre, and in the course of past visits here has made many friends. If he had not entered the ministry Dr. Bovard might have made his mark among the authors and humorists of Indiana. Hence he not only conveys a message but entertains his hearers as well.

SERENADE STEINBERGERS

Jazz in its purest form was the order of the evening Monday when ten car loads of men motored to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Steinberger and with tin pans, cowbells and other implements for the disturbing of the peace, serenaded the newlyweds. The work of the artists seemed unappreciated for some time but when two of them climbed to the roof, the barricaded party surrendered and invited the musicians into their home where they were given cigars and allowed to rest and refresh themselves after their artistic efforts.

THE SCHEMING LIEUTENANT IS COMING PLAY

The ladies of St. Rita's Altar society are working untiringly for the play to be presented St. Patrick's day at the Woman's Club house.

The play, "The Scheming Lieutenant," is a comedy by Richard Brinsley Sheridan. It is rich in humorous situations and the characters wearing costumes of the period.

Those who have seen rehearsals in the beginning predict it will be the best play Sierra Madre has had in recent times. The curtain will rise promptly on scheduled time, 8:15 p. m. The play will last about two hours. There will be good music, vocal as well as instrumental, and a dance will follow and continue until midnight.

The play is being directed and staged by Mrs. Glenwood Jones.

Proceeds of the evening's entertainment will be used for the furnishing fund of St. Rita's new church now in course of construction. A cordial invitation is extended to friends in neighboring towns as well as residents of Sierra Madre.

Well Known Singer Will Visit Club

An unusual opportunity to hear a fine singer will be given to the members of the Woman's Club on Wednesday, March 11, when Daisy Austin Marsden will appear in the afternoon program. Miss Marsden is a pupil of Tyroler and a singer of rare ability, combining a voice of unusual sweetness with great volume and she is being brought to us by Mrs. Allison Gaw, who also appears on the program. A few of Dr. Gaw's songs will be sung by Miss Marsden, giving her a wonderful opportunity to show her voice volume. She will also sing a group of folk songs.

Mrs. Allison Gaw, president of the Los Angeles Browning society, a member of the Los Angeles Press club and an author of note, is going to tell of the Poetical Activity today in America, and incidentally will read some of her own verse. The club has been looking forward with pleasure for a long time to Mrs. Gaw's program and a treat is in store for all who attend this meeting.

Luncheon at 12:30 will be prepared and served by the Woman's guild of the Episcopal church. Luncheon reservations to be made before Monday noon to Mrs. William Lees, phone Green 79.

The members of the club who availed themselves of the opportunity offered by the Soroptimist club to lunch at the Biltmore and hear Mme. Tamaki Miura, the Japanese prima donna, will surely never forget the tiny Japanese woman who stood on a chair so all could see her and filled the great ball room bursting with music. Mme. Miura is called the real Mme. Butterfly, having created a great sensation in many large cities of the world singing the title role in the opera Mme. Butterfly. After singing Mother Macree and two charming Japanese songs, the little prima donna told in a delightful way that captivated her hearers of her debut in London, a strange little woman in a big strange land.

Wistaria Fete
Begin to talk Wistaria Fete. It is not too early. The committee in charge, Mrs. Fennel, chairman, has decided that the opening day shall be Saturday, March 14, continuing through three Sundays to March 30. Luncheon at noon and afternoon tea will be served each day. More than 30,000 people thought the vine worth visiting last year and this year it is even more beautiful than ever.

HENRY F. BOWERS PASSES AWAY

Henry F. Bowers, 66 years old, passed away at his home, 80 West Grand View, March 1. He is survived by his widow, Sophie Bowers. Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the chapel of Bergien & Cabot, conducted by the Knights of Pythias Lodge No. 126 of San Pedro, of which he was a member for 32 years. A number of members of the Monrovia lodge were also present.

An item which escaped the notice of the News until this week, is the birth of a baby girl to Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Bradford about three weeks ago.

CHANCES FOR UNIVERSITY

The bringing of the University of California Southern Branch, to the Hastings ranch site would "make" Sierra Madre. Only a little less important on its effect would be the choice of the Huntington site ten minutes distant on the part of Sierra Madre would be justified to aid in securing either site.

Obviously the regents of the University are not to be influenced by the mere wishes of the people offering any of the proposed sites. The wisdom of coming northeast of Los Angeles to one of the sites offered by the Pasadena committee is plain enough to those of us who live out this way. Likewise, the superiority of the Hastings site is evident to Sierra Madre people. Mr. Hastings was thought to have removed his ranch from the range of possibility by the restriction against acquisition by condemnation or otherwise of the portion of the ranch he wishes to retain. Now the attorney general of the state says the state can be bound by such a restriction in the deed of conveyance, which seems to make the Hastings site a very real possibility.

The committee, on which Sierra Madre is well represented, is headed by some of Pasadena's ablest men. The board of regents meets next Tuesday and is expected to arrive at a decision then or very soon after. The next week may see the beginning of an era of development beyond anything in the minds of the wildest real estate boomer of the past.

Four Great Pictures at the Wistaria

Douglas Fairbanks will, in "The Thief of Bagdad," at the Wistaria tonight, Saturday and Sunday, transport his audience to the land of mystery and romance, where all things are possible and all dreams come true. This "Thief of Bagdad" is, according to all accounts, a glorious fantasy of the Arabian Nights. In it the agile Doug leads the way through the winding streets of Bagdad, past the far-famed bazaars, stopping long enough to pick up a string of pearls or a gorgeous robe; down into the den of thieves and then over the palace walls into the boudoir of the beauteous Princess of Bagdad.

Speaking of picture casts, the Alan Crosland-Paramount picture, "Sinners in Heaven," which will open a run of two days at the Wistaria theater on Monday next, includes a list of prominent names that go to make up a truly all-star cast.

Bebe Daniels and Richard Dix are featured in the two principal roles of the production which is an adaptation of the famous story of the same name by Clive Arden. The strong supporting cast includes Holmes Herbert, Montague Love, Effie Shannon, Florence Billings, Betty Hilburn and Marcia Harris.

Aside from the notable cast and dramatic strength of the story, the picture is distinguished by reason of its unusually picturesque backgrounds and colorful pictorial settings.

"Excuse Me," Rupert Hughes' latest production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is coming to the Wistaria theater March 11 and 12. This is a film version of the famous stage farce of a night on a Pullman car. In the cast are Norma Shearer, Conrad Nagel, Renee Adoree, Walter Hiers, John Boles, Bert Roach, William V. Mong, Edith Yorke, and others. "Excuse Me" was written by Mr. Hughes and directed by Alf Goulding.

Jackie Coogan in the fourth of his Metro-Goldwyn pictures, "The Rag Man," will be the attraction at the Wistaria March 13 and 14. This is a film version of the famous New York life, revealing the adventures of an Irish-American boy who becomes the partner of an old Jewish junk man. The cast includes Max Davidson, Robert Edeson, William Conklin and Lydia Yeamans Titus. The production was supervised by Jackie Coogan, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Christensen returned Monday to their home in Croft, N. D., after visiting for several weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Barker. Mrs. Christensen is the daughter of Mrs. C. N. Barker.

Fred Griebenow, Robert Mitchell, Woodson Jones, E. P. Bradford, J. W. Jones, Louis D. Berg and Major C. S. Floyd went to Temple Tuesday night to attend a meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Gabriel Valley.

A special train carrying the students of the Redondo Beach Union high school is expected in Sierra Madre today. The visit of the students is for the purpose of studying the mountains at first hand.

SIERRA MADRE STUDENTS WIN SCHOLARSHIPS

Memberships in the Pasadena High school Honor society were recently awarded to 223 members of the student body, of whom ten were Sierra Madre students. To be eligible for the honor society a student must be doing work that is classed as Grade 1, or 95 per cent or more in two subjects and Grade 2 in three subjects. Merit points also count in entering the Honor club, merit points being awarded for good citizenship and extra work.

NEW PORTRAIT BY MISS BUSH IS STRIKING

Sierra Madre has again been honored through the selection of Ella Shepard Bush to paint the portrait of William Henry Harrison Green, a prominent citizen of Seattle, and a man active in all that promotes development of that northern city. He is a Princeton man of the class of 1859 and has traveled in many lands. His face, therefore, records rich experiences, and Miss Bush has caught a peculiarly sunny mood, when the twinkly blue eyes challenge one to enjoy the world as he does.

The portrait will hang among other family treasures, painted many years ago, hence it is pitched in a key to harmonize with the older style of portraiture.

Wholly by chance a group of ladies met in Miss Bush's studio Monday afternoon and were privileged to see the unfinished portrait.

While we highly appreciate the fine versatility of Miss Bush, we like most to associate her with her jewel-like miniatures, and it is in this field of art she has been most active the past month.

As chairman of the Miniature committee for the Friday Morning club, she has just carried through a two weeks' exhibit in the Art Gallery of that club, where miniature painters from the entire state contributed and members of California Society of Miniature Painters were hostesses each afternoon.

Just previous to this she served as hostess and on the jury of awards when the exhibit hung in the Biltmore, and here honorable mention was given her gem-like painting of Dr. Bertha Lovewell Dickinson.

The exhibit is now in Santa Barbara, where again members of the California Society of Miniature Painters will be hostesses.

Tuesday, March 10, at 2:30, Mrs. J. Borradale, 391 East Grand View avenue, will entertain the Art Section of the Sierra Madre Woman's Club. Mrs. J. Glenwood Jones will present pictures and statuary of Rome. It is suggested that all members study some feature of Roman art.

All women interested in art are invited to this meeting.—Secretary Art Section of Woman's Club.

M. Gitman, who has been a resident of this city for several years, has started in the taxi business. He has a new five-passenger car and is equipped to take care of his business in a businesslike manner. The phone number for the new taxi is Blue 184.

NEW CHURCH IS TOPIC OF NEXT SUNDAY MORNING

Dr. Tate is back from his vacation and will have charge of the services next Sunday. In the morning the service will center around the special business to be brought before the Church by the representatives of the official board. It is expected that every member and friend of the Church will be present at the service next Sunday morning.

At the evening service the picture "Let Kat Do It," will be presented. Dr. Tate will speak on the lesson presented by the picture and the choir will furnish special music. Come early and be prepared to join heartily in this community service.

On Sunday evening, the 15th of March, at the Congregational church, in addition to the picture, Mr. Dennis Stovall will deliver his lecture, "Flappers and Sheiks." This is a fine lecture and has won for Mr. Stovall a good deal of praise. It will be to the advantage of all young people of the community and their parents to hear it. Remember the date, March 15.

Opening Day Of Wistaria Fete Mar. 14

The Wistaria is beginning to bloom in Sierra Madre and plans are being completed for the Annual Wistaria Fete, which will start on Saturday, March 14, and will continue until Sunday, March 29. The fete will be held at "Scenic Point," the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Fennel, 201 N. Carter Ave. Last year more than 30,000 visitors saw the vine in full bloom.

The Sierra Madre Wistaria Fete is an annual affair which has proven popular with pleasure seekers in Southern California for many years. The vine around which the festivities are centered is said to be the largest and most beautiful in the world. It entirely encircles the house and continues on wires and pergolas to the rear to a total length of more than 350 feet. It is located at Scenic Point, overlooking the San Gabriel valley. Scenic Point has many visitors all the year round for the view alone. To the west is Floral valley, devoted exclusively to floral culture, and which lends its color to the already bizarre surroundings. Roses of many well known varieties, including Cherokee, Dutchess de Barban and Gold of Ophir, mingle with the vine.

Committees from the Sierra Madre Woman's club and the Chamber of Commerce have the fete in charge. The general committee of the Woman's club is Mrs. H. T. Fennel, chairman; Mrs. George Ferris, Mrs. F. B. Seeley, Mrs. Homer Glidden and Mrs. J. Milton Steinberger.

The Chamber of Commerce committee is Ray A. Grant, George Norris and Frank Gibson. Police Chief A. M. Udell has arranged for a special traffic squad to direct the traffic to and from the vine. The crowd this year is expected to be the largest in the history of the fete.

The Wistaria Fete is patterned after the popular garden fetes but on a much larger scale and instead of lasting a single day will be conducted for more than two weeks. The earnings will go to pay the Woman's Club building fund.

The event has reached such proportions that a large number of committees have charge of the various activities. These have been appointed in order to leave the general committee's time free for the general supervision of the affair. The committee chairmen are: Luncheon, Mrs. W. E. Walker; afternoon tea, Mrs. John Osgood; reception, Mrs. W. H. Ingram; novelties, Mrs. Homer Glidden; photographs and pictures, Mrs. W. S. Hull; ice cream, Mrs. C. G. Hawkins and Miss Hilda Caley; tables, Mrs. George F. Blakeslee; waiters, Mrs. M. D. Welsher; cooked foods, Mrs. Louis Dietz; perfumes, Mrs. Ole Hanson, Jr.; orange flowers and peels, Mrs. W. S. Andrews; club publicity, Mrs. Elmer Green; candy, Mrs. Tom Henderson.

One of the publicity features which is planned for this year is the distribution of postal cards with a picture of the big vine and the legend, "Meet me at the Wistaria Fete in Sierra Madre." These cards may be had free by calling at the office of Mrs. N. M. Mescar next to the post office. The club is anxious to have as many of these cards mailed as possible.

Jack Carroll, formerly of Detroit but now living on South Lima street, has just signed a contract with the Pacific Coast league as an umpire. Mr. Carroll has been umpiring baseball games on the Pacific coast for the last three years, coming here from eastern circuits.

More About Street Trees

In the past it seems that the hold back in street tree planting in Sierra Madre has been chiefly because of a lack of decision on the part of the property owners as to the type of tree they want to plant on their particular street.

The Chamber of Commerce is so anxious to have the city improved by uniform street tree planting that it is preparing a chart to assist the property owner in deciding on a desirable tree for each street. The chart will show the trees now growing and suggest varieties to carry out the planting of the whole street or block, using the same variety that has been started wherever practicable. The preparation of this chart will be put into the hands of experts in this line so that no mistakes will be made as to the desirability of the varieties suggested.

The contour and scenic possibilities of a street should govern to a great extent the character of the tree to be planted; also the width of the parking between the street and sidewalk.

The streets running east and west or any streets commanding a beautiful view of the valley or mountains certainly should not be screened off by planting large spreading trees. It is obvious that these streets should be planted to dwarf trees or the tall slender growing types. The view of the valley through trees of this nature is only made more beautiful because the trees frame sections of it and make many pictures as one walks or drives along.

The streets running the other way, or north and south, lend themselves more to the broad shade trees. The pedestrian on a hot summer day will more than rejoice for the welcome shade if he is compelled to climb one of these streets. The view is not cut off to any great extent because the changes in contour of the road seen drops the trees below the level of the eye.

The next time you are down by the flag pole take a look at the Haas-Berconis garden, which was mentioned in last week's News. It may give you some idea on how to beautify your own back yard. It will be specially interesting to you if you are a business man in the business district. Mr. Haas of Fred's Barber shop and Mr. Berconis of the Sierra Madre Cafe have made a beauty spot out of an unsightly back yard. The city improvement committee of the Chamber of Commerce hope that this example will be an inspiration to others at least to clean up their grounds even if it is impracticable to plant flowers and shrubs. Sierra Madre will never be the largest or richest foothill town but it can be made the most beautiful.

U. S. FORESTS FOR BENEFIT OF THE PEOPLE

The National Forests belong to the American people. You own an interest in them. They are not "reserves." They are handled by Uncle Sam's foresters, the U. S. Forest Service, to produce the greatest good for the greatest number. When a crop of trees is ripe and there is need for lumber, it is sold to the highest bidder. The man who cuts it must do so in such a way that a new crop will grow on the same ground. The method of doing this is different for each region and type of timber.

If the grass and weeds growing beneath the trees are needed by stockmen, permits are issued to graze sheep and cattle. Sometimes a forest's most important function is to regulate streamflow, providing irrigation, drinking water and water-power. Public camp grounds are set aside for the public, and summer homesites are leased, where mountain cabins may be built.

Of all the money taken in by the Forest Service from timber sales, grazing and special uses, 25 per cent is returned to the state and county to be used for roads and schools. The Forest Service also spends money in the forest communities building roads, trails, telephone lines, and other protection or improvements and for fire fighting.

The greatest benefit, however, is the proper handling and use of these forests for the best interests of the people and the growing of new tree crops for the future.

About one-fifth of the remaining timber in the United States is in the National Forests. The remaining four-fifths belongs to states or private individuals.

The following marriage notice from the Riverside Enterprise will interest a number of Sierra Madre people:

Mrs. Maude Tetley, formerly of this city, became the bride of Edwin P. Nicholson of Long Beach, at a wedding ceremony read at high noon yesterday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Gilliland, 52 Allen Place. Dr. J. Lewis Gillies, pastor of the First Methodist church of this city officiated.

The bride wore a smart costume of beige silk crepe with hat to match. Her flowers were pink sweet peas arranged in an arm bouquet. She was attended by Mrs. Agnes McLaughlin of Sierra Madre, a sister of the bridegroom. Mrs. McLaughlin wore a gown of beige crepe, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas.

The bride and her attendant entered the living room from the dining room, advanced to the improvised altar and were met by the bridegroom and his best man, Jack Robertson of Long Beach. The altar was beautifully decorated with acacia, palm branches and fern. Two candles burned at the altar, providing a soft light. The wedding party stood beneath a wedding bell of magnolia leaves, with lighted clapper.

The ceremony was read in the presence of members of the families and close friends. After the vows were exchanged, a wedding breakfast was served. A wedding cake, decorated with candy hearts and cupids, was placed in the center of the table.

For going away, Mrs. Nicholson added a coat to her costume, making a costume complete for her wedding trip. After a honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson will be at home in Long Beach, where Mr. Nicholson is in business.

A LECTURE

ENTITLED

Christian Science: The Government by Divine Law
by
JUDGE SAMUEL W. GREENE, C. S. of Louisville, Kentucky,
Member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

ONE of the first impressions that comes to the beginner in Christian Science is one of satisfaction on finding a religious teaching that is exact—that is really scientific and in accord with law.

The Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, in her book—Rudimental Divine Science (Page 1:2-4), defines Christian Science "As the law of God, the law of good, interpreting and demonstrating the divine Principle and rule of universal harmony."

The Discoverer and Founder This use of legal phraseology to define Christian Science may be an indication of how earnestly and broadly Mrs. Eddy studied and searched to discover the basis of Jesus' healing method.

To turn to the Bible for help was her last hope after a long and fruitless search for health among material remedies. Turning to God as she did with hope and faith she quickly saw the healing power manifested in restored health.

She then applied herself to a study of the Bible that she might know the scientific basis of her healing. As she studied, the Scriptures were illumined, and she saw and understood how healing depends upon a knowledge of God, as is evidenced in one of Jesus' most comprehensive promises, "This is life eternal that they might know Thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom Thou hast sent." She saw that all of Jesus' healings came through his reliance upon God. She saw that Jesus claimed no exclusive right to do spiritual healing but that the same healing power could be exercised by all who believed in him—that is, understood the Christ. Thus was she led unerringly to the discovery that this scientific healing is in accord with divine law. Therefore, its practice is not limited, but is available for every earnest seeker after God who adheres to the plan outlined in Christian Science.

Although Mrs. Eddy, at the time of her discovery of Christian Science was what the world calls middle aged, she was able to give more than forty years of active service to the foundation and promotion of her discovery. Her undisputed ability and efficiency as a really great leader have been recognized and fittingly acknowledged by many editors and men of affairs outside the Christian Science movement. That she is held in the highest and tenderest esteem by the great host of Christian Scientists is plainly evidenced in the oral testimonials on Wednesday evenings in Christian Science Churches girdling the globe, and by written testimonials constantly appearing in the Christian Science periodicals.

The Text Book

For the purpose of enabling the Bible student to understand its spiritual import and significance, and to elucidate the practical operation of Christian Science, Mrs. Eddy wrote the Christian Science Text Book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures."

At first the book evoked a storm of criticism from medical, religious and scientific sources, but gradually, as faithful men and women studied it, some under the Author's tutelage, others independently, and began to apply its teachings, the healing of sin, disease, and other human problems resulted. Today spiritual healing, as practiced in Christian Science, is generally recognized as possible and of common occurrence. Indeed some medical men are sending the so-called incurables to Christian Science, and many preachers are advocating a study of the methods of spiritual healing. The Christian Science Text Book is now well known in most libraries of any importance. It has been the agency through which great numbers of invalids and unfortunate have found health, happiness and comfort.

A study of this book unfolds to humanity the spiritual interpretation of the Bible, thus justifying that portion of the title "Key to the Scriptures."

God

The first consideration in the study and practice of Christian Science, and that upon which the whole theory is founded, is a correct spiritual understanding of God. By spiritual understanding is meant that concept of Him which removes consideration of the subject absolutely out of the material realm of thought. A correct concept of God can never be had from the basis of matter; and until one's thought of God is separated and distinguished from a material concept, his religious experience can never be wholly satisfactory.

In Christian Science, God is understood to be infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love.

The concept of God as Principle, enables us to realize His presence and power as ever available. It does not locate God in a Heaven far removed from earth and human experience, but gives us the sweet assurance that at all times and under all circumstances He is present and His omnipotence available for the solution of our every problem. It is in effect the adoption of the first Commandment in its full meaning. It is a refusal to concede power to another than God, thus allowing no other gods before Him.

Man

Closely related to a consideration of God's nature and being is the thought of what man really is. Christian Science adopts the theory of creation as unfolded in the first chapter of Genesis, that man is created in God's image and likeness and is therefore spiritual. Jesus says, "God is a Spirit: and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth." This certainly implies that we must know God—must apprehend Him—understand Him—in spirit and in truth. The average person, when he stops to consider, will generally agree that he can know God only through spiritual apprehension or understanding—He does not expect to see God with the human eye or touch Him with the hand. Then man, in His image and likeness, must as certainly be apprehended or understood spiritually. No more than God can be materially perceived, can the man of God's creation be so perceived. It is true that we have been accustomed to think more commonly of man as material, but for a proper concept of God's creation, we are compelled to overcome this theory, and rise to an understanding of man's being image or idea of God—of Spirit. The reality of an idea is not a difficult concept even to our material thinking.

Healing

This spiritual concept of God and of man, positively applied in one's thinking, leads to healing. There is no mystery about it, nothing to alarm or antagonize. It is to concede that this is now God's world, that man, His image or idea, is governed by Him—by His law. It is to deny that there is other law or power to interfere with or to prevent the full and perfect enforcement of God's law. It is the prayerful effort to bring one's concept of life into accord with the Word of God. Paul says, "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God. Whosoever, therefore, resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation." Christian Science is therefore taking for man a logical position as governed by God who is the only power. It recognizes that whosoever resists God's law, does so at his peril.

Christian Science affirms the perfection of being and denies the reality of disease, pain and suffering because of the fact that God is Love, and therefore unable and unwilling to afflict His children. If God does not afflict, then the so-called disease or affliction is unreal because "there is no power but of God."

Conclusion

Christian Science when properly understood, offers a broad and sure foundation on which any sincere seeker after Truth may find rest, peace and salvation. It voices the cry of the prophet, "Look unto me, and be ye saved all the ends of the earth; for I am God, and there is none else." Likewise it sounds the compassionate note of the Christ, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

It is the Comforter promised of the Master that is to lead men to a knowledge of all things, even to a correct understanding of God, whom to know aright is life eternal.

Its Discoverer and Founder has in one sentence given the world this splendid assurance:

"One infinite God, good, unifies men and nations; constitutes the brotherhood of man; ends wars; fulfills the Scripture, 'Love thy neighbor as thyself'; annihilates pagan and Christian idolatry,—whatever is wrong in social, civil, criminal, political, and religious codes; equalizes the sexes, annuls the curse on man, and leaves nothing that can sin, suffer, be punished or destroyed."

(S. and H. 840:23-29.)

EDITORIAL COMMENT

KICKS

Mark Twain, not joking this time, said kickers make things pleasanter for people who come after. He himself kicked freely, "for the benefit of the next man."

His principle was right. Sturdy protest is the root of reform.

Years ago a travelling salesman kicked because Pullman upper berths cost the same as lowers. He carried his kick to the courts and won. You and I were saved many a dollar by his deed.

A book could be written about kicks, kickers, kickees, and ought-to-be-kickeds. A special chapter should be devoted to suppressed, ingrowing, unkicked kicks.

Those at the receiving end of kicks—store proprietors, manufacturers, public utility executives and others—would do well to remember certain points, such as:

1. Don't take every kick too seriously. Most kicks are amply salved with a nice apology, for often they represent only wounded self importance, a temper, a torpid liver or a tight shoe.

2. Don't let a kick start the indoor game known as passing the buck, which may end in a final report fixing the blame on some poor cuss too far down the official ladder to pass the buck any further.

3. Don't ignore kicks. Sometimes they are like a lightning flash on a dark night, exposing the flaws in a product or service whose correction means a great deal to the business.

4. When a kick is received and it becomes clear that an employee was amiss, it might be well, just before he is skinned alive, for those above him to ask themselves whether they are not the real culprits by some error of management.

Dave Harum said a certain amount of fleas did a dog good; "they keep him from broodin' on bein' a dog." A certain number of kicks, penetrating to the inner sanctum of a successful business, may keep it from broodin' on its own success; thus encouraging humility and self criticism.—"The Ambassador," of the Niagara Paper Mills.

A South Dakota paper says the flapper has been succeeded by the bungalow girl—shingled on top, paint on the sides and nothing in the attic.

France accuses the Germans of concealing arms. Are the women of today trying to prove they are not German sympathizers?

Ten years ago Henry Ford established the $5 minimum wage scale and the rest of the managers said he was crazy. Wouldn't they all like to get some of that $5 help now?

OBSERVANCE OF LENT

The Lenten season, which is observed by the Roman and Greek Catholic churches; as well as in some degree by the Church of England, the Protestant Episcopal church in America and others, began on Ash Wednesday, February 25, and will continue until Easter Sunday, April 12, a period of 40 days, not counting Sundays.

In the early years of the Christian era the fast of Lent was observed for varying periods, by some only one or two days and by others for a longer time, according to the writings of Irenaeus, Greek Bishop of Lyons in the second century.

Pope Leo I, in the fourth century, recommended the fast of forty days as having apostolic authority. This period was taken to commemorate the forty days' fast of Moses, of Elijah and especially of Christ.

Theoretically at least, the faithful abstain from food on fast days until evening, worldly amusements and secular celebrations and marriages are held to be undesirable during Lent.

The duty of fasting is modified with respect to laboring people, children and women under certain conditions, but increased diligence in works of charity is enjoined upon all, as well as extraordinary attention to all religious observances throughout this period.

Digging into the past is not new. An expedition now excavating at Ur, in Mesopotamia, has unearthed clay tablets recording investigations of Chaldean archaeologists, who, 700 years before the Christian era were likewise digging up buried debris of former civilizations. Discoveries of present day archaeologists are astounding, but few people know or care about the wonderful material being brought to light.

GOOD MOVE BY LAWYERS

If members of the American Bar association really put into effect the recently announced intention of simplifying the language of laws and legal documents, they will earn the gratitude of the public.

Everyone knows that our law books and legal records are cluttered up with useless words, which tend only to confuse and obscure the ideas they are supposed to convey.

It seems that the old policy has been to make laws as difficult to understand as possible, so that only a lawyer is able to make sense out of them, while half the time lawyers disagree and the result is a lawsuit.

Striking archaic and superfluous words and phrases from future legal documents would be a most salutary and timely reform. Will the lawyers really do it?

WONDER PEACH
TREE GROWING AT RESERVOIR

Sierra Madre, Mar. 2.—Editor News: I would appreciate it very much if you would spare me space to describe a freak or phenomenon that has been called to my attention lately. It appeared to be a clump of brush growing by the side of the reservoir on East Mira Monte avenue amongst a lot of other wild brush, between Mount Wilson Trail and the reservoir just north of the Trail Inn, city property. Nearly two years ago some "kids" stopping at the inn while playing in the brush, noticed peaches growing on the brush and in surprise ran into the hotel to apprise the proprietor of their discovery. He made a good deal of fun of the boys, but they would not be put off until he went out into the brush and to his surprise there was as fine a lot of peaches as he had ever seen hanging to the brush, and he gathered about half a bushel. About peach time this summer I took him over some peaches from my trees, thinking they would be a treat for him, so he told me about his peaches, which he said were very late. I did not pay any attention to him, thinking they could not amount to much, having come up voluntarily smothered in the wild brush without ever having any care and never having any water except what they got from the winter's rains. They never had any fertilizing, spraying, budding or pruning, how could they amount to anything?

When the fruit ripened he gave me a sample and such peaches I never saw or tasted before, although I have lived in two peach states—Michigan and New York. They were so large, pink and juicy, I never tasted anything like them before; and the size of them! He weighed one in my presence and it weighed over a pound. Then I wanted to see the tree. He took me out to see it, but to my surprise there was not any tree. It looked as if there had been at some time, but had either been cut down or broken off close to the ground and six sprouts had come up all radiating from the same parent stump; if there ever had been one it had been covered deep in the earth washing down from the banks of the reservoir, which are very steep.

From these six sprouts he had gathered about four bushels of the fruit I have described. The weight of the fruit had broken down the three best of them within four feet of the ground; the other three lay over the tops of two of them lying on the reservoir, the third one lying almost flat on the ground with branches growing thick around from the ground to the tips. The wild brush had grown so much taller and so thick around them that they could not grow up through it. Those that were broken off would measure about two and on-half to three inches. I could not bear to see such fine fruit neglected in that way and asked permission to fix them up as best I knew how. It was granted and I have just completed the job. I have trimmed them up to the large branches, cut what I thought best out of the top and cut off the tips so that they would not grow any

ESSAY CONTEST

Sierra Madre Post, American Legion, decided at its regular meeting Wednesday night, to sponsor in this community the national essay contest which is held annually by the nation-taller but get more body to the trunk and branches. I am not an expert but I have had pretty good luck in taking care of my own.

It seems to me that those trees would be a fortune to a nurseryman for budding purposes. I believe the roots of those sprouts must get their water from the reservoir in some way, but I cannot understand how they did so well without cultivating, pruning or spraying. I am going to watch them the coming summer.

Yours very truly, A. BAYNE.

al department of the American Legion. This contest is open to girls and boys 12 to 18 years of age, and will close on June 1.

The subject of the essay is: "Why has the American Legion, an organization of veterans of the World War dedicated itself, first of all, to uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America?" Essays must not exceed 500 words in length.

The first prize is $750, second prize $500, and third prize $250, the awards to be used as scholarships in colleges designated by the winners.

The contest will be handled locally by the Americanism committee of the Sierra Madre Post, the members of which are George Norris, Gordon B. Langworthy and L. C. Tucker. The rules of the contest may be obtained from them.

In Pasadena

David Belasco's production of "Deburau" proved the most artistic and dramatic of his career—topping the superlatively good things this master mind of the American drama has achieved in the last decade. It was a high grade stage production starring Lionel Atwill. New York audiences thronged to see it. Its vogue mounted with each performance; its run lasted above a year.

Now the film version of this same play is available in films under the title, "The Lover of Camille," which will be presented at the Pasadena theater during the vaudeville engagement Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The greatest lover of all times plays the role of Stephen Ghent in "The Great Divide." After much parleying, Conway Tearle was selected to play the role which brought Henry Miller fame and fortune on the legitimate stage. The famous piece opens at the Raymond Saturday for a week's run.

Captain Sills brings the good ship Drama safely across the shoals of tragedy once again in his latest First National picture, "As Man Desires," which comes to the Pasadena Theater for four days starting Monday.

The salt tang of the South Seas mingles with the mysticism of the Orient in this strange romance, adapted from Gene Wright's novel, "Pandora La Croix." Sills and Viola Dana occupy the center of interest.

Fun, fantasy and frolic will again hold sway at the Florence the coming week, starting tomorrow, when "The Wizard of Oz," the famous children's book story by Frank L. Baum, will make its film debut at the Florence.

Zoning Laws
Sustained by State Court

City zoning ordinances such as that of the City of Sierra Madre were given a solid footing last Friday by two decisions of the supreme court of California. The cases involved two attacks on ordinances of the City of Los Angeles. The opinions handed down were sweeping in their scope and recognize the authority of city and county legislative bodies to district territory for particular uses.

The Sierra Madre zoning ordinance was framed by G. Gordon Whitnall, director of the Los Angeles Planning Commission, who was also largely instrumental in drawing up the Los Angeles code. Practically all cities of Southern California which have zoning ordinances were interested in the defense of the Los Angeles ordinance, because it was generally regarded as a test case. There are many cases pending in the lower courts on which decisions have apparently been withheld, awaiting this decision by the supreme court. The cases will serve to clarify the atmosphere everywhere in the matter of zoning practice for cities.

The State high court held, in substance and specifically, that the zoning of its territory for building purposes is a proper exercise by the city of its police powers.

The court held that the protection of residential districts by zoning ordinances is justifiable and proper on the ground that such protection develops and promotes the civic and social values of the home.

Superior Court Upheld

A decision of the same court in a third case, handed down Friday, held that a zoning ordinance adopted by the San Francisco peninsula was invalid, not because it was wrong in principle but because of the manner in which the zones were laid out.

The two Los Angeles cases previously had been decided in favor of the city by the Superior court and against the city by the Second District Court of Appeal.

In both local cases the Board of Public Works was made defendant. In the first case, George Lee Miller and Frances Miller originally applied to the Superior Court of Los Angeles county for a writ of mandate to compel the board to grant them permission to construct a four-story flat building at 3802 West Adams street. In their petition to the court the Millers set forth that the board had granted them in 1921 a permit for the construction of the building, but that the permit had been revoked later when the City Council indicated that the district was to be limited to two-family structures.

Decision Reversed

The lower court denied the application for the writ. The Millers appealed to the District Court of Appeal, which court ruled in favor of the Millers. This decision virtually nullified the entire zoning ordinance of the city. In its decision the Court of Appeal held that "private property cannot be arbitrarily invaded under the exercise of police power. If a law be adopted as a police regulation under the pretense of preserving public health, safety, comfort or welfare of a community, nevertheless if that is not its real object and purpose it will be the duty of the court to set it aside."

The city appealed to the Supreme Court from this decision. The high court took the opposite view from that of the Court of Appeals and ruled in favor of the city.

In the second case settled by the Supreme Court, Hector Zahn and A. W. Ross, property owners along Wilshire boulevard, applied directly to the Supreme Court for a writ of mandate to compel the Board of Public Works to issue them a permit for the construction of a business block within the district zoned for residences. The Court of Appeals in which the writ was returnable, handed down a decision in this case in favor of Zahn and Ross. This decision also was overturned by the Supreme Court.

Important Victory

When informed that the Supreme Court decisions had brought a victory to Los Angeles, City Attorney Stephens said:

"I consider the decision sustaining the validity of the zoning ordinances and determining that the police power of the city is broad enough to regulate classes of buildings and businesses to be the most important victory that has been won in many years.

"It will mean the stabilizing of all classes of property, because the home builder on the one hand and the industrial concern on the other knows in purchasing a piece of property for a definite purpose that he is in a district set aside for his particular purposes after careful and scientific study and that his use of it will be protected. ticularly important from the home owner's standpoint, because he is protected from the encroachment of undesirable businesses and from multiple dwellings, including hotels and apartment houses.

"This office has been besieged with requests for copies of our brief in these cases, indicating that cities all over the nation are watching with tremendous interest the action of our Supreme Court. I am extremely delighted that California has taken this great forward step.

"The zoning ordinance, which is upheld by these decisions, divides the city into five zones—A, for single family dwellings only; B, multiple residences, including apartment houses, hotels, flats, bungalow courts, and duplex dwellings; also clubs, churches and schools; C, business and light industries; D, heavy industrial other than nuisance businesses, such as slaughter houses, soap factories, etc.; E, unrestricted."

Whitnall Pleased

G. Gordon Whitnall, director, City Planning Commission, said:

"This ruling not only removes all doubt as to the constitutionality of the city's zoning act, but strengthens the city in carrying out large projects of civic development. It also assures property owners of the stability of the law so that they may make investments with the assurance that their projects will not be delayed by costly court action. The city now can plan on a comprehensive program for the good of the entire city, looking toward conditions that may arise in the future. It will be particularly valuable in restricting districts where it is not advisable to establish certain lines of business or industry. It also will make it safe in planning for industrial expansion."

"It will mean the stabilizing of all classes of property, because the home builder on the one hand and the industrial concern on the other knows in purchasing a piece of property for a definite purpose that he is in a district set aside for his particular purposes after careful and scientific study and that his use of it will be protected. WOMAN'S CLUB ENDORSES SITE OF U. C. BRANCH

A special emergency meeting of the Sierra Madre Woman's Club was called for 9 o'clock Saturday, Feb. 28, for the purpose of voting on a resolution to be sent to the University Site Committee of Pasadena. Mr. J. B. Coulston, chairman of this committee, had urged that the towns and clubs in this region at once manifest their interest and pledge their support to the work of the committee. The following resolution was adopted and delivered to Mr. Coulston:

At a special meeting of the Sierra Madre Woman's Club held on Saturday, Feb. 28, 1925, the following resolution was adopted by unanimous vote.

Resolved: that the Sierra Madre Woman's Club heartily endorses the proposed location of the Southern Branch of the University of California on a site in the San Gabriel valley adjacent to Pasadena, preferable on the Hastings property or the Huntington property, and pledges its loyal support to any bond issue or other legal plan that may be adopted for financing the acquisition of real estate in this territory acceptable to the Regents of the University.

ness and the other for residences, and the contention of the plaintiff that the territory allotted to business was too small must be upheld. The court ruled that the ordinance in that respect was unreasonable, arbitrary, and discriminatory, and therefore invalid.

California Foresters Hold Fire Conference

Two hundred officers of the California District, United States Forest Service, the largest gathering of Forest Servicemen ever held in the United States, completed a ten-days' conference at Fort Miley, San Francisco, on Feb. 27. This was the first general meeting of Federal forestry men that has been held in the state since 1919, and was called by District Forester Paul G. Reddington for the purpose of formulating more effective fire prevention and suppression methods and for the consideration of timber sales and grazing activities and other problems connected with the administration and protection of the 20,000,000 acres of Government forest land in the California district.

The greater part of the conference meetings were given over to the consideration of the findings and recommendations of the Forest Service Board of Fire Review, based on the experiences of the 1924 fire season during which 2,657 forest fires occurred in California, burning over 1,065,039 acres and causing damage to timber, forage and improvements estimated at more than $5,000,000.

All phases of fire protection and fire suppression work were discussed by the foresters, from public cooperation in the prevention of the 70 per cent of the fires that are annually caused by human carelessness to law enforcement and the many details of actual fire fighting and control work in the woods. Among the important recommendations adopted by the conference were:

Proposed Changes

The establishment of training schools for new rangers; more intensive training of all men employed temporarily during the fire season; that the support of the public, both urban and rural, must be secured before satisfactory protection of our

Sham Fire Battle

Two days of the conference were given over to practical field work on the forested lands of the Spring Valley Water company, 20 miles south of the city peninsula, which were placed at the disposal of the Forest Service through the courtesy of officials of the company. The first day in the field was spent in solving a fire suppression problem—150 rangers and supervisors fighting an imaginary fire that was supposed to have swept over 300 acres of brush land before being discovered. To control this conflagration fire camps were established and connected by emergency telephone lines; men, supplies and fire fighting tools transported to the scene and fire lines laid out to check the onrushing fire. After a stubborn fight the fire was controlled by night and the men gathered together to hear the findings of the board of review which had closely followed each step taken to control the blaze.

forests will be realized; while adequate state forest laws are important in dealing with incendiaries, carelessness and negligence, need for active cooperation of peace officers and local justices in the enforcement of the present fire laws is paramount; that fire weather forecasting in cooperation with the United States Weather Bureau be developed to the fullest extent; that the use of water by engine driven pumps and hand pumps be extended as fast as funds are available; that a forest fire hazard survey of all forest areas be initiated at once so that an adequate system of fire breaks and the reduction of fire hazard can be made as rapidly as funds will permit; that airplanes be used for reconnaissance of going fires and checking on locations of fires in areas obscured from the standard Forest Service lookouts now located on high peaks; that the technique of fire prevention and suppression be developed to the highest point of efficiency.

The second day was spent in testing new and improved fire fighting apparatus. Practice was had with portable fire pumps that could be handled by two men, and which would throw a sizeable stream of water at 1,500 feet from the source of supply, or several times that distance by using pumps and water tanks in relay. Experiments were also conducted with portable water containers carried on a man's back and equipped with a hand force pump—this apparatus being especially effective in the extinguishing of flames in burning logs or dead trees. Another important new invention was a portable flame thrower, operated with coal oil or gasoline, which could be used for burning brush or backfiring on large conflagrations. A side-hill plow and scraper adapted for use in building fire lines and mountain trails was also given a trial. All of these inventions have been adopted as standard equipment for Forest Service fire fighters in California.

Following the consideration of fire control measures, several days were spent by the men at the conference in discussing National Forest problems common to timber sales, grazing and lands activities, together with personal plans of work, road and trail building, finances, recreation, forest pathology, and the general relations and duties of a Forest Service officer in his dealings with the public.

Through the courtesy of the commanding officer of the Ninth Corps Area, U. S. Army, the Forest Service men were housed and fed in barracks at Fort Miley near the Presidio of San Francisco.

Forest Service officers from other National Forest districts who were in attendance at the conference were District Forester R. H. Rutledge, chief of intermountain district, Ogden, Utah, and assistant district for-

Mission Play
Will Have Short
Run This Year

It is again announced that the Mission Play this season will be very short, so that the many who are planning to visit the Play this year at Old San Gabriel will not be disappointed. Opening a month later than usual, the Play will not be protracted into the summer months as heretofore.

This year the Mission Play opened its fourteenth season by playing in the old Playhouse. As the new playhouse was not completed it was desired that a season should not pass in which the Mission Play did not open, if only for a limited time. Now that the record seasonal run of the Play is unbroken, John Steven McGroarty, author of the Mission Play, is anxious to be again able to give his entire time to the finishing of the new playhouse and the housing of the play. The attendance this year is said to be the greatest in the history of the Play and the Play itself is acclaimed as better than ever.

The John E. Brown evangelistic meetings will begin in Monrovia on March 15. Monday, March 16, will be Sierra Madre night. It is understood that committees will be appointed in the various churches to work up delegations which will be given reserved seats. Clarence E. Virgin of Sierra Madre, who is the business manager of the organization, says plans are being made to have special nights for every town in the valley. An auditorium which will seat 3,000 will be built.

MRS. T. E. YERXA PASSES AWAY AT RIPE AGE

Mrs. T. E. Yerxa passed away Wednesday night at her home on South Baldwin avenue, yielding to failing health over a long period and to the infirmities of age. She was 76 years old and had been a resident of Sierra Madre most of the time for fifteen years.

Mrs. Yerxa was a native of Holton, Maine, but spent most of her life in Minnesota and North Dakota. Her husband, the late T. E. Yerxa, was prominent in the business life of St. Paul. The Yerxa grocery stores which he operated with his brother, F. R. Yerxa, and his sons, were among the largest in the west. Mr. and Mrs. Yerxa were active members and supporters of the Presbyterian church, and gave liberally to missionary work.

After Mr. Yerxa's retirement from active business life they came to Southern California, living first in Hollywood, and later building their home, Bonita Vista, in Sierra Madre. Mr. Yerxa passed away nine years ago, since when Mrs. Yerxa has divided her time between her children.

Mrs. Yerxa is survived by six children, fourteen grand children and six great grandchildren. The children are Mrs. Stewart Roseberry of Los Angeles, Mrs. Hugh Duff of Oakland, T. F. Yerxa of Sierra Madre, E. L. Yerxa of Pasadena, Dr. C. W. Yerxa of Los Angeles, and H. R. Yerxa of Oakland.

Funeral services are to be held this afternoon at the home with only members of the family present. They will be conducted by Dr. Robert Freeman of the First Presbyterian Church of Pasadena. Interment will take place at Rosedale cemetery, Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Griebel spent the week end motoring to San Diego and the Imperial valley. They returned Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Rader went to San Bernardino to attend the orange show Saturday.

Mrs. Frances H. Burton has returned from a trip to Mexico where she was called on account of the illness of her son, Dr. Burton.

Miss Pauline Lux of Long Beach is spending the week in Sierra Madre, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Eva M. White. Miss Lux is a nurse at the Seaside hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Johnstone, Miss Margretta Bains and Boysie Johnstone returned Tuesday from a week's vacation at Pismo Beach.

Miss Margaret Linebaugh, 224 San Gabriel Court, sustained a fractured elbow Friday when she tripped and fell at her home.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dingman of Pasadena was in Sierra Madre Thursday looking after property interests.

Mrs. Zola Bonar Lamb is spending a week in Long Beach visiting with friends.

Gilbert Colwell returned to LaMeta on Monday, after spending a week in Sierra Madre visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Ferris, 47 Bonita.

Charles E. Toy went to Hollywood Wednesday to spend the day visiting relatives. Mr. Toy lives in Sierra Madre Canyon Park.

Harold Roberts has purchased the vegetable stand in the Sam Seelig store and will be open for business Saturday. Mr. Roberts is well known in Sierra Madre and his large circle of friends wish him success in his new undertaking. He expects to keep a large supply of fresh fruits and vegetables which he will offer to the housewives of the community at reasonable prices. Mr. Roberts will hold his formal opening on Saturday, March 15.

bakery on Windsor Lane last Saturday, reports a very satisfactory start. Many visitors to the new bakery have taken the trouble to tell the news of their pleasure at finding the shop so neatly kept and the products so tasty. From all appearances Mr. and Mrs. Otto are due for a prosperous stay in Sierra Madre.

Miss Nancy Stevenson, a resident of Sierra Madre for several years, left last week for Long Beach. On Friday night she was given a farewell surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Telford, corner of Auburn and Montecito, when her associates of the Bible class of the Congregational church presented her a handsome bead bag.

J. W. Shannon and two daughters and David MacLaggen, all of Muskegon, Mich., spent Wednesday in Sierra Madre, visiting F. H. Hartman and F. B. Pillsbury, who are old time friends. Mr. Shannon is general superintendent of the Central Paper company with which Mr. Pillsbury was connected for a number of years as yard superintendent.

Second Wedding Anniversary Date Is Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Hessel of 68 Victoria Lane, in celebrating their second wedding anniversary, entertained Sunday a group of relatives from Orange, their former home, including Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hessel, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Dewey, Mrs. J. T. Hessel and Mrs. Jennie Conner, and Mr. and Mrs. Alva Sweet and baby Beverley Ann of Los Angeles. As St. Patrick holds sway in March, the cozy home was daintily decorated in green as most befitting, with streamers from chandeliers to ceiling in canopy effect, and lovely bouquets of bridal wreath, lillies, etc., charmingly arranged.

Chicken dinner was served at noon. Sweet peas, a gift of the groom to his bride, centered the table—stately candles gave dignity, and dainty hand painted place cards, the work of the bride, were souvenirs. A radio concert was given in the afternoon and evening, with the taking of family group pictures and a hike helped to complete a very happy day. Monday being the real anniversary day, Mrs. Hessel, assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. Conner, succeeded in surprising Mr. Hessel by serving a second chicken dinner in the evening to Mr. Hessel's sister, Miss Lucile Hessel, his cousin Miss Alma Kraemer, and Hart Wayne and Curtis Morgan, all of Orange.

The table was centered with a gift from the groom, beautiful hothouse pink bride's roses, fritzias and maid-hair ferns. The soft light from dainty green candles added to the charm of the daintily appointed table, as did also the green candy and nut baskets and hand painted place cards.

Guests to arrive later were Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Fliege of Pasadena, Melvin Madson of Pasadena, and Miss Betty Moore of Sierra Madre.

Games, stunts, a radio concert, and group singing with Miss Hessel at the piano, and the disposal of a gift box of candy, made the hours fly merrily until the guests at parting wished the "happy-weds" many more happy anniversaries. They received many beautiful gifts on both occasions.

CANYON PARTY

A crowd of about 75 guests greeted A. M. Scott, Tuesday night, at the Canyon club house in honor of his birthday. The affair was arranged by Mrs. Scott and came as a complete surprise to the guest of honor. A big log fire was built in the great fireplace and an old fashioned party was enjoyed. The activities of the evening included dancing, games and a bountiful supper served in one of the store rooms near by. This party was a repetition of the many fine affairs that have been held in the Canyon in times gone by and only those who have attended some of them can appreciate the good fellowship and neighborliness which are the keynote to their success.
